

AARES 2023

AUSTRALASIAN AGRICULTURAL & RESOURCE ECONOMICS SOCIETY

The Australasian Agricultural and Resource Economics Society's (AARES) 67th annual conference will take place during 7-10 February 2023 in Christchurch, New Zealand.

Contributed Papers and Posters – Call for Submissions

The Local Organising Committee for the 2023 AARES Conference invites Contributed Papers and Posters submissions on any topic relevant to the broad conference theme “Revitalizing the food system” as well as agricultural, resource, environmental, energy, or development economics. The Conference will offer a forum for applied and theoretical economists to gather along with industry and policymakers to share experiences and discuss insights.

The titles and extended abstracts will be used to select contributed papers and posters for inclusion in the program. The presentations of contributed papers will be scheduled during the Conference between the 8–10th of February 2023.

Presenters of accepted papers are encouraged to produce a full paper to support their presentation. Full papers and posters can be uploaded to the conference website at any time before the Conference. Abstracts and papers (if uploaded) and posters (if uploaded) of successful submissions will be made available to conference delegates. Full papers will be uploaded to the AgEcon Search website after the Conference unless authors request otherwise.

As each delegate is only entitled to make one verbal presentation, please consider submitting posters for your additional research projects. Note that there are no restrictions on co-authorship for contributed papers or posters.

AARES aspires to active engagement with early-career professionals and supports their career development.

A cash prize is available for the best first-time presenter at the AARES conference. Two prizes are awarded to the best poster as judged by an expert panel and a public vote.
